

FAST and NSTA Now Offers FREE Networking for Teacher Resources, Discussion Groups and Forums

Get Connected! “It takes a community to support a professional” and now FAST members can get connected to the resources and information they need. Join the FAST Group at NSTA Communities, <http://www.nsta.org/communities/?lid=hp>, and join the discussions with other science educators, other smaller science communities gathered in one place. These smaller units are called “Groups,” and each has its own organizing principles (subject matter, locality, and issues). It is in these groups that you will find the shared resources and discussion forums you’ve been looking for in science.

Join one group, join a few, join many - it's up to you. You can come and go as time permits, and you can control how often the system alerts you to new content. If you have a special interest and don't find a Communities group for it, you can create one yourself! We encourage you to exploit this powerful networking tool to the fullest. It's FREE to all visitor and members.

Dive Into Science; Join the FAST Group Today at NSTA Communities.